

XPE Team - Making a Wave as No.1 Results Driven Team Player

There could be many team building provider in the country, but one of the team building company that stand out is XPE Team. This organization is branded as Results Driven Team Builder for their ability to support organization with customized program to accomplish clients' specific KPI and ROI.

"As many organization and team-building provider perceived team building as a retreat and fun filled activities for staff. we are looking at teambuilding beyond that. It is a platform for organizations to empower their people and drive them forward towards accomplishment of their annual expectations or KPI" said their CEO, Steven.

With 10 years turn around in business, XPE Team has successfully developed various team building program, methodologies, experiential learning activities and profiling tools used widely by clients to understand their status quo and team effectiveness in their organizations.

"Management team or Senior Managers used to say that team building does not generate positive outcome and their staff commitment are observed as normal upon participating in other programs. But, after attending our customized team building program, the empowerment and unity that we build within 2D1N or 3D2N duration has channeled positive outcomes in people and results. We want to make sure our clients gain their ROI for their money spent in our team building program" said Steven.

What is unique about Team Building offered by XPE Team? Even though, XPE Team is regarded as an Event company, but the key members are from consulting background. With their expertise in Training and Development, team building program modules, methodology of delivery and indoor or outdoor activities are designed to suit the objectives that clients want to accomplish. As such, they don't offer one (1) single program to satisfy different types of industry and client's requirements.

"Team Building shouldn't be perceived as an avenue just for fun and excitement, but it should be fully utilized as a platform to unite workforce and move forward towards the organization ambitions"

Steven, CEO of XPE Team
